Thousands March In Call for End To Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Softly chanting freedom songs, a multitude of Negroes and white sympathizers estimated at more than 100,000 moved on Abraham Lincoln's shrine today in a great civil rights march.

A small army of police, national guardsmen and police reservists had little to do because — up to noon at least — the massive gathering was one of the most orderly on record.

The police estimated the turnout at 110,000 persons at noon.

And still more were on the way. Deputy Police Chief Howard Covell reported in early afternoon there were many buses still en route through distant avenues in northwest Washington.

Advance crowd estimates had ranged as high as 250,000.

The march of less than a mile, from the monument to the Lincoln Memorial, actually got under way in impromptu fashion nearly half a hour before the 11:30 scheduled time.

Some of the placards read:

"Before we'll be a slave, we'll be buried in our grave."

"Segregation disunites the United States."

"No U.S. dough to help Jim Crow."

"In freedom we were born, in freedom we must live."

The demonstration was a giant demand that racial discrimination be abolished, root and branch, throughout America.

Just about everybody, Negro and white, was polite, and evidently intent on proving false some advance predictions that there might be an explosion of disorder.

The religious tone was reflected in signs which proclaimed "God of justice, God of power, can America deny freedom in this hour?"

The march leaders met with Democratic and Republican leaders of the Senate and House. Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said no commitments were asked or given in the session with him.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), said Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois pledged support for all of the administration's civil rights program except the public accommodations bill. This has been Dirksen's position all along.

Wilkins said House GOP leader Charles Halleck of Indiana told them he was "holding conferences (on the legislation) and the Republican attitude always has been friendly to civil rights."

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., was quoted as predicting the House would pass a strong civil rights bill.

Words of encouragement came from President Kennedy. Although he did not mention the march specifically, he issued a statement saying:

"These recent months, one hundred years after the Emancipation Proclamation, have seen the decisive recognition by the major part of our society that all our citizens are entitled to full membership in our society."

State Fair Queen To Be Chosen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Twenty-five young women will compete tonight to reign as "Miss 110th Ohio State Fair."

The winner will be crowned Thursday afternoon following the Governor's Day program of harness racing.

Tonight's Queen of Queens pageant will be held in front of the grandstand with Patricia Lei Anderson leading the 25 candidates in the pageant parade. Miss Anderson, "Miss Hawaii of 1962," has been attending the fair all week.

All of the fair's exhibit areas will be represented in the pageant. The exposition goes into its sixth day with attendance well ahead of last year's figures. Tuesday 45,253 persons viewed the exposition, compared to 36,393 on the fifth day last year. The five-day total is 366,030, compared to last year's 313,613.

In livestock events, C. E. Hartzell and sons of Greenville, N.C., and C. D. Graham of Ashley and James L. Westover and son of Marysville took the breeder's awards in sheep judging.

The four top positions in the All-American Swiss Futurity were won by John McKittick of Dublin and Andson D. Smith of Hilliard had the grand champion Guernsey bull.

The Oelker Farms of Urbana won the seventh annual Ohio Guernsey Futurity for 2-year-old cows.

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — There were times when we saw people that weren't there and lights that weren't there and doors that weren't there.

There was a time we heard rain and it really was rain coming down the drainage pipes and we thought the water would back up

News of World in Brief

MOAB, Utah (AP) — Voice contact was established today with nine of 25 miners trapped more than 2,700 feet below the ground in a phosphate mine.

High Crawford, chief engineer of Texas Gulf Sulphur Co., owner of the mine, said one of the rescue workers on the bottom of the main shaft heard a call for help. "He shouted back, 'How many are there of you?'"

The voice shouted back: "Nine!"

State Mine Inspector Steve Hattis said earlier that deadly carbon monoxide gas had been encountered by rescue teams.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—New claims for unemployment compensation dropped from 15,059 in the week ended Aug. 17 to 11,096 on the week ended Aug. 24, but continuing claims of those unemployed one week or more increased slightly — up from 64,342 to 65,069.

The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation issued the weekly report today. In comparison, it showed that the average of new claims filed weekly in August last year was 15,986, and that of continuing claims on file each week of August last year was 83,362.

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A groundhog hunter found the body of a wealthy Steubenville woman Tuesday in a back pool of the Ohio River between New Cumberland and Newell, W. Va.

An investigation is in progress today to learn circumstances involved in the death of Mrs. J. Stewart Williamson, 63, wife of a retired Weirton Steel Corp. vice president. Coroner John D. Heron of Hancock County, W. Va., said there was no evidence of foul play. He said an inquest would be held, probably next week.

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — An Arizona motorist swerved to miss a youngster walking toward him along Interstate 75 Tuesday night, but a boat trailer behind the car tore off the boy's leg, the Highway Patrol said.

The youngster is Glen E. Perry, 15, of Lima, who patrolmen said was hiking to Toledo. He is in fair condition in Blanchard Valley Hospital, Findlay.

The boy lost his left leg below the knee and his right leg is broken.

The patrol said no charge was placed against the driver, Albert G. Clark Jr., 31, of Phoenix, Ariz. The youngster, wearing dark clothing, was walking north along the southbound passing lane of the superhighway, about three miles north of Findlay, the patrol added.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States must have highest caliber representatives at next year's International Trade Conference to guard against the Soviet Union, says Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio.

"The Soviet Union, to be sure, will attempt to turn the conference into a propaganda exercise," Lausche told the Senate Tuesday. "Stymied in their move to focus the conference on the expansion of East-West trade, they will no doubt try to shift it in that direction once the conference is convened."

As the conference now stands, it will center on the problem of trade and development as concerns the emerging nations.

PULA, Yugoslavia (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Yugoslav President Tito lingered on Brioni Island past schedule today after two days of conferences on world issues and closer relations between Belgrade and Moscow.

They were expected to talk with Cesare Merzagora, president of the Italian senate, who sailed from Venice to Brioni, Tito's island retreat, Tuesday.

The fact that the prominent Italian politician was received by Tito halfway through Khrushchev's 15-day visit was seen as a demonstration that Tito was not weakening his ties with the West. There was wide speculation that Khrushchev might indicate through Merzagora a desire to visit Italy.

NEW YORK (AP) — W. E. B. DuBois, one of the founders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, died in Ghana Tuesday night, discharges from Accra reported today. He was 95.

The controversial Negro leader joined the Communist party in 1961 when he was 93. In his letter of application he apologized for waiting so long.

DuBois, who helped found the NAACP in 1909, finally broke with it in 1948 and devoted time to extreme left-wing causes. In 1959 the Soviet Union awarded him the Lenin Peace Prize.

He moved to Ghana last year and became a Ghanaian citizen.

8-Year-Old Art Foll Seriously Injured In Bike-Truck Mishap

An eight-year-old Circleville boy was listed in "very critical" condition at noon today by Children's Hospital authorities where he was admitted for treatment of injuries suffered when his bicycle was struck by a pickup truck.

The mishap came at 1:55 p.m. yesterday on W. High St. Police said Art Foll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Foll, 156 W. Water St., darted from an alley into the path of a Hardin Chevrolet service truck.

Driver of the truck was Larry McDaniels, 22, of Laurelville.

McDaniels told City Patrolmen Jack Mills and William Brungs he did not see the lad until the bike collided with the right front fender of his truck.

THE YOUTH was thrown 48 feet by the impact. Hospital authorities reported young Foll sustained multiple head and internal injuries.

Although several persons heard the crash, there were no witnesses. The injured boy was taken to Berger Hospital and then immediately transferred to the Columbus hospital.

No citations were issued by police.

The bicycle, which was demolished, belonged to David Winks. Only minor damage was inflicted on the truck.

Accused Killer Of Policemen Dies Cursing

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Falco, one of two men charged with shooting two policemen to death in New Jersey — was killed by police bullets in his hotel hideout early today.

Falco screamed and fought with detectives who caught him asleep. Hit by seven bullets, he kept on cursing and snarling as he lay dying.

Falco tried to grab a gun from Detective Lt. Thomas Quinn during the fight. But Quinn held onto the gun and fired six bullets. Another detective fired three shots.

Falco, 25, Astoria, Queens, New York City, was indicted Tuesday on murder charges in Bergen County, N.J.

Indicted with him was Thomas (Rabbi Tom) Trantino, 27, of Brooklyn, who still is at large. Bergen County Prosecutor Guy W. Calissi identified the two men as the killers of the policemen in the Angel Lounge, a tavern in Lodi, N.J., Monday.

Sgt. Peter Voto, 40-year-old father of three, and Gary Tedesco, 23, a police appointee about to be sworn in, had gone to the tavern to investigate a report of shots fired.

Police Tuesday arrested ex-convict Carlo Benedetto, 27, alias Rocco Bennet, on a charge of selling one or more pistols to Falco and Trantino, friends of his. Bail was set at $15,000.

Nationalist Guerrillas Land on China Mainland

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Six groups of Nationalist Chinese guerrillas landed on the mainland China coast this month, a government agency said today.

The agency, which asked not to be identified, said anti-Communist elements on the mainland aided the landings.

timbers on the wall next to us caved in and the timbers on the ceiling above us came down. We just managed to step aside in time as the big chunks of wood and coal and stone fell wildly around us.

We could see Louis on the other side until the power line to our work lights broke. For the next couple of hours we could see a little around us with the lights on our helmets. But then they burned out. Our matches wouldn't burn down there. That was the end of light for the next 5½ days.

In that first hour and a half, we just sat there against the wall while the debris piled higher before us in the tunnel. The rumbling from the cave-in lasted that long. There were others later.

Higher Auto Premium Seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The president of the Nationwide Insurance Companies has called for a greater public awareness of the hazards of highway travel.

Murray D. Lincoln said Tuesday he was concerned that both the auto insurance industry and the motoring public "face a rough financial road if current accident trends continue."

He said the Nationwide companies showed a statutory operating loss of $17.3 million in the first half of 1963—mostly because of spiraling auto accident claims.

"The entire auto insurance industry is being squeezed by more and costlier claims," Lincoln said. "One obvious solution is to raise the price of auto insurance. A better solution is to reduce auto accidents."

House Ponders Railroad Issue

Deadline Is Minute After Midnight

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the strike deadline only 12 hours away, the House went to work today on a Senate-approved resolution that would force arbitration to avert a nationwide railroad walkout.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., told reporters he was confident the House would win the race with the clock, and get the resolution to President Kennedy for signing into law well in advance of the 12:01 a.m. deadline.

"I would think the railroad bill would pass, and pass with a reasonable degree of rapidity," McCormack told newsmen.

"I would think that it would get through very quickly."

He did not predict whether the House would accept without change a measure passed by the Senate Tuesday, or make changes which would necessitate a compromise. But the effort was to send a bill quickly to President Kennedy.

White House officials said that if the House passes the legislation without change, a copy could be placed on Kennedy's desk for signing within a half hour after House action.

A spokesman for the railroads said that as soon as the bill becomes law the railroads will act immediately to cancel proposed work rules changes which the unions have said will cause them to strike.

Notices of the work rules changes have already been posted to become effective just after midnight, but the rail spokesman said the carriers are standing by to cancel the notices.

A Senate Labor Committee specialist said enactment of the bill would mark the first time to his knowledge that Congress has ever set up procedure for compulsory arbitration.

The measure would force arbitration to settle the two big issues in the work rules dispute: The elimination of 22,000 firemen's jobs and how many men are needed to run a train.

Under the Senate measure, there would be 180 days for arbitration negotiations before a strike could ensue if the lesser issues were still unsettled. Further congressional action might be requested then.

House leaders hoped to pass the measure and speed it to President Kennedy for signing before the strike deadline.

Data Reveal Net Incomes For Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Average net income per farm in 1962 ranged all the way from $21,828 in Arizona to $849 in West Virginia.

In its final estimates for last year, the Agriculture Department showed a wide disparity in net income by states and regions.

The 11 western states—Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, Washington, Oregon and California—topped the six regions. The average net income per farm there was $6,124. This compared with the average for 48 reporting states (no figures were given for Alaska and Hawaii) of $3,602.

Net income does not include the value of products consumed on the farm, and minus all expenses connected with farm operations.

Without these deductions, gross income per farm averaged $11,061 for the 48 states.

For the east north-central states—Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin—the average net income per farm came to $3,413.

Illinois was high with $4,880. Michigan was low with $2,426 just a shade behind Ohio with $2,428.

City Postoffice Preparing In Case Rail Strike Occurs

Postmaster Charles H. Walters announced today that planes, trucks and buses will be pressed into service to move air and first-class mail to its destination and to move other classes of mail within the second zone (approximately a 150-mile radius) of Circleville in event of a nation-wide rail strike.

However, the postmaster noted he has received instructions not to accept mailings, other than first class, air mail and air parcel post, which are destined for points more than 150 miles from Circleville, for duration of the rail strike if it occurs. He said: "We are prepared to handle any letter or parcel addressed to any point, provided first class or air mail postage is paid on the item."

Walters cautioned that service will be temporarily suspended on second-class magazines and newspapers, third-class matter and fourth-class parcel post packages addressed to points beyond the second parcel post zone — extending 150 miles beyond the points of mailing — as part of the National Post Office Contingency Plan for operating under a rail strike emergency.

The postmaster advised mailers that any emergency shipments such as medicines or badly needed spare parts should be sent first class or air mail during the strike, if it occurs, and if the shipment demands delivery beyond the 150-mile limit. Perishable items, such as baby chicks and honey bees, should not be mailed for the duration of the strike if it occurs.

MAILINGS of items covered by the temporary and limited service suspension, if deposited at post offices immediately prior to the strike, will be made at the risk of the mailer. The Department cannot guarantee early delivery of perishable items and other than first class and air mail parcels, letters and other matter if they are in transit at the beginning of the strike or within the post office of acceptance at the time the strike commences.

The postmaster noted that Cleveland, Toledo, Lexington, Ky. and Muncie, Ind., are among cities within the 150-mile zone of the Circleville which will continue to get full mail service from this post office, if and when the strike occurs.

"We urge publishers and large mailers to call the post office at GR 4-2685 for detailed information, and to get answers to technical questions involving their particular mailing problems," Walters said.

Higher Auto Premium Seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The president of the Nationwide Insurance Companies has called for a greater public awareness of the hazards of highway travel.

Murray D. Lincoln said Tuesday he was concerned that both the auto insurance industry and the motoring public "face a rough financial road if current accident trends continue."

He said the Nationwide companies showed a statutory operating loss of $17.3 million in the first half of 1963—mostly because of spiraling auto accident claims.

"The entire auto insurance industry is being squeezed by more and costlier claims," Lincoln said. "One obvious solution is to raise the price of auto insurance. A better solution is to reduce auto accidents."

House Ponders Railroad Issue

Deadline Is Minute After Midnight

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the strike deadline only 12 hours away, the House went to work today on a Senate-approved resolution that would force arbitration to avert a nationwide railroad walkout.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., told reporters he was confident the House would win the race with the clock, and get the resolution to President Kennedy for signing into law well in advance of the 12:01 a.m. deadline.

"I would think the railroad bill would pass, and pass with a reasonable degree of rapidity," McCormack told newsmen.

"I would think that it would get through very quickly."

He did not predict whether the House would accept without change a measure passed by the Senate Tuesday, or make changes which would necessitate a compromise. But the effort was to send a bill quickly to President Kennedy.

White House officials said that if the House passes the legislation without change, a copy could be placed on Kennedy's desk for signing within a half hour after House action.

A spokesman for the railroads said that as soon as the bill becomes law the railroads will act immediately to cancel proposed work rules changes which the unions have said will cause them to strike.

Notices of the work rules changes have already been posted to become effective just after midnight, but the rail spokesman said the carriers are standing by to cancel the notices.

A Senate Labor Committee specialist said enactment of the bill would mark the first time to his knowledge that Congress has ever set up procedure for compulsory arbitration.

The measure would force arbitration to settle the two big issues in the work rules dispute: The elimination of 22,000 firemen's jobs and how many men are needed to run a train.

Under the Senate measure, there would be 180 days for arbitration negotiations before a strike could ensue if the lesser issues were still unsettled. Further congressional action might be requested then.

House leaders hoped to pass the measure and speed it to President Kennedy for signing before the strike deadline.

With the walkout threat just around the bend, the Senate inched out the throttle, beat down some other proposals and pushed through the emergency measure (Continued on Page 2)

City Postoffice Preparing In Case Rail Strike Occurs

Postmaster Charles H. Walters announced today that planes, trucks and buses will be pressed into service to move air and first-class mail to its destination and to move other classes of mail within the second zone (approximately a 150-mile radius) of Circleville in event of a nation-wide rail strike.

However, the postmaster noted he has received instructions not to accept mailings, other than first class, air mail and air parcel post, which are destined for points more than 150 miles from Circleville, for duration of the rail strike if it occurs. He said: "We are prepared to handle any letter or parcel addressed to any point, provided first class or air mail postage is paid on the item."

Walters cautioned that service will be temporarily suspended on second - class magazines and newspapers, third - class matter and fourth - class parcel post packages addressed to points beyond the second parcel post zone — extending 150 miles beyond the points of mailing — as part of the National Post Office Contingency Plan for operating under a rail strike emergency.

The postmaster advised mailers that any emergency shipments such as medicines or badly needed spare parts should be sent first class or air mail during the strike, if it occurs, and if the shipment demands delivery beyond the 150-mile limit. Perishable items, such as baby chicks and honey bees, should not be mailed for the duration of the strike if it occurs.

MAILINGS of items covered by the temporary and limited service suspension, if deposited at post offices immediately prior to the strike, will be made at the risk of the mailer. The Department cannot guarantee early delivery of perishable items and other than first class and air mail parcels, letters and other matter if they are in transit at the beginning of the strike or within the post office of acceptance at the time the strike commences.

The postmaster noted that Cleveland, Toledo, Lexington, Ky. and Muncie, Ind., are among cities within the 150-mile zone of the Circleville which will continue to get full mail service from this post office, if and when the strike occurs.

"We urge publishers and large mailers to call the post office at GR 4-2685 for detailed information, and to get answers to technical questions involving their particular mailing problems," Walters said.

Drillers Search For Third Miner

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — Rescuers, spurred by their success in raising Henry Throne, 28, and David Fellin, 58, from a coal mine cave in, drove a 12-inch shaft about 305 feet through earth, rock and coal into a void today, searching for Louis Bova, 54, missing since Aug. 13 in the same mishap.

Meanwhile drilling of two other probes was underway.

Mine officials said the drill on the 65-ton rig broke through into some kind of chamber about 6:15 a.m.

The officials said they would be unable to say if it was successful in reaching Bova until the drill pipe was removed and microphones and possibly a camera could be lowered, in a matter of hours. The drill started at 5:45 a.m. Tuesday, but drilling was halted by a six-hour breakdown.

Officials said they hit the void at the spot Fellin told them to drill. Fellin had also directed the miners where to sink a successful 18-inch escape shaft to him and Throne.

A three-inch probe reached 132 feet at 7 a.m., said officials. A six-inch shaft, started early today, hit 88 feet by 7 a.m.

The six-inch shaft is similar to the one which reached Fellin and Throne Aug. 18 and served them as a life line until they were pulled to safety before a cheering throng Tuesday morning. Bova has had no food since the day of the cave-in, but may have some water from seepage.

Fellin reported he made contact with Bova Aug. 20, but some officials questioned the contact. No direct communications were ever established with Bova.

Fellin and Throne are convinced their buddy is alive. Fellin is so sure, he has volunteered to return to the scene of his entombment to search for Bova. Dr. H. B. Charnbury, state mines secretary, however said at a news conference that only experts, if any one, would be allowed down the 18-inch escape shaft to look for Bova.

Charnbury said Fellin was "well ahead of us," and had already drawn maps indicating the location where he thinks Bova may be. Bova was separated from Fellin and Throne by tons of debris.

Gordon Smith, deputy state mines secretary, directing the rescue operations, said he plans to condemn the mine.

George Lincoln Rockwell, leader of the anti - Negro - and - Jew American Nazi Party, showed up at daybreak on the fringe of the monument ground with about 40 young followers, and police promptly ringed them in a tight circle. Deputies said the truck driver, Bill Eugene Hochstetler, 26, of Topeka, Ind., was injured. Officials held him pending a decision whether to file charges.

"The gains of 1963 will never be reversed."

The White House described it as a Labor Day statement but released it far in advance to coincide with the march.

Among the early arrivals was a Chicago truck driver, Ledger Smith, footsore and weary after roller skating from Chicago. He said he left home 11 days ago and skated about 70 miles a day.

On the monument grounds there was a carnival atmosphere.

Here and there groups of bearded, guitar-playing folk singers performed. Soft drink and sandwich wagons were doing business. Women were selling brochures, priced at $1, entitled "We Shall Overcome."

By a striped canvas tent serving as headquarters for the march operation, a group was marching around in a circle, hand-clapping rhythmically and singing.

The whole area was heavily policed. Along a major part of Constitution Avenue, officers stood shoulder to shoulder. There were civil police and military police. Also available, if needed, were several thousand troops at military posts in the Washington area.

George Lincoln Rockwell, leader of the anti - Negro - and - Jew American Nazi Party, showed up at daybreak on the fringe of the monument ground with about 40 young followers, and police promptly ringed them in a tight circle. Typhoid Fever Discovered in Church Camp

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—State health officials said today more than 700 persons from Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio attended a religious camp from which six cases of typhoid fever have been diagnosed.

They appealed to physicians and local health authorities to notify them of any suspicious fever cases.

State epidemiologist Cliff Todd said there always is the possibility that an unknown typhoid carrier exists," Todd said. "In other words, to pinpoint the exact source."

Delegates to the religious meeting came from ten Kentucky counties and parts of Indiana and Ohio.

A Christian Holiness camp ground meeting was held July 18-28 in a rural area of Fleming County, Todd said. The five children and one adult who definitely have typhoid all attended the encampment, he said.

The onset of their illness was two or three weeks after they participated in camp activities. Five of the six still are in hospitals.

House Ponders

which is similar to one that had been drafted by the House Commerce Committee.

This is expected to simplify matters, for leaders plan to have the House take up the Senate bill as a substitute for its own version. That way the House could pass the measure and send it straight to the White House, rather than returning it to the Senate for final action.

Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, expressed belief the House can act on the measure in time to block the strike which would tie up 195 railroads, practically every major line in the country.

Five operating unions representing the engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen and switchmen have said they will strike the moment the railroads put into effect the job-cutting new work rules.

Last month, the carriers agreed to hold off on the new rules for 30 days to give Congress time to act in the dispute.

With time running out, the unions, carriers and the government began taking steps in case Congress could not beat the deadline.

The Post Office Department announced an embargo on all but first class and air mail should the walkout occur.

It said second, third and fourth class mail would not be delivered more than 150 miles from the post office of origin. Air mail would continue on schedule and first class mail would be moved by alternative transportation.

The railroads announced an embargo on accepting freight effective at 12:01 a. m. local time Thursday. A spokesman said most lines will stop handling freight before the strike deadline and will cancel passenger trains which would not reach their destination before the walkout is scheduled to begin.

Drillers Search For Third Miner

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — Rescuers, spurred by their success in raising Henry Throne, 28, and David Fellin, 58, from a coal mine cave in, drove a 12-inch shaft about 305 feet through earth, rock and coal into a void today, searching for Louis Bova, 54, missing since Aug. 13 in the same mishap.

Meanwhile drilling of two other probes was underway.

Mine officials said the drill on the 65-ton rig broke through into some kind of chamber about 6:15 a. m.

The officials said they would be unable to say if it was successful in reaching Bova until the drill pipe was removed and microphones and possibly a camera could be lowered, in a matter of hours. The drill started at 5:45 a. m. Tuesday, but drilling was halted by a six-hour breakdown.

Officials said they hit the void at the spot Fellin told them to drill. Fellin had also directed the miners where to sink a successful 18-inch escape shaft to him and Throne.

A three-inch probe reached 132 feet at 7 a. m., said officials. A six-inch shaft, started early today, hit 88 feet by 7 a. m.

The six-inch shaft is similar to the one which reached Fellin and Throne Aug. 18 and served them as a life line until they were pulled to safety before a cheering throng Tuesday morning. Bova has had no food since the day of the cave-in, but may have some water from seepage.

Fellin reported he made contact with Bova Aug. 20, but some officials questioned the contact. No direct communications were ever established with Bova.

Fellin and Throne are convinced their buddy is alive. Fellin is so sure, he has volunteered to return to the scene of his entombment to search for Bova. Dr. H. B. Charnbury, state mines secretary, however said at a news conference that only experts, if any one, would be allowed down the 18-inch escape shaft to look for Bova.

Charnbury said Fellin was "well ahead of us," and had already drawn maps indicating the location where he thinks Bova may be. Bova was separated from Fellin and Throne by tons of debris.

Gordon Smith, deputy state mines secretary, directing the rescue operations, said he plans to condemn the mine.

"The gains of 1963 will never be reversed."

The White House described it as a Labor Day statement but released it far in advance to coincide with the march.

Among the early arrivals was a Chicago truck driver, Ledger Smith, footsore and weary after roller skating from Chicago. He said he left home 11 days ago and skated about 70 miles a day.

On the monument grounds there was a carnival atmosphere.

Here and there groups of bearded, guitar-playing folk singers performed. Soft drink and sandwich wagons were doing business. Women were selling brochures, priced at $1, entitled "We Shall Overcome."

By a striped canvas tent serving as headquarters for the march operation, a group was marching around in a circle, hand-clapping rhythmically and singing.

The whole area was heavily policed. Along a major part of Constitution Avenue, officers stood shoulder to shoulder. There were civil police and military police.

Also available, if needed, were several thousand troops at military posts in the Washington area.

George Lincoln Rockwell, leader of the anti - Negro - and - Jew American Nazi Party, showed up at daybreak on the fringe of the monument ground with about 40 young followers, and police promptly ringed them in a tight circle. The Nazis were not in uniform and Rockwell said they did not plan a counter-demonstration but would only act as observers.

Typhoid Fever Discovered in Church Camp

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—State health officials said today more than 700 persons from Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio attended a religious camp from which six cases of typhoid fever have been diagnosed.

They appealed to physicians and local health authorities to notify them of any suspicious fever cases.

State epidemiologist Cliff Todd said there always is the possibility that an unknown typhoid carrier exists," Todd said. "In other words, to pinpoint the exact source."

Delegates to the religious meeting came from ten Kentucky counties and parts of Indiana and Ohio.

A Christian Holiness camp ground meeting was held July 18-28 in a rural area of Fleming County, Todd said. The five children and one adult who definitely have typhoid all attended the encampment, he said.

The onset of their illness was two or three weeks after they participated in camp activities. Five of the six still are in hospitals.

House Ponders

This is expected to simplify matters, for leaders plan to have the House take up the Senate bill as a substitute for its own version.

That way the House could pass the measure and send it straight to the White House, rather than returning it to the Senate for final action.

Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, expressed belief the House can act on the measure in time to block the strike which would tie up 195 railroads, practically every major line in the country.

Five operating unions representing the engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen and switchmen have said they will strike the moment the railroads put into effect the job-cutting new work rules.

Last month, the carriers agreed to hold off on the new rules for 30 days to give Congress time to act in the dispute.

With time running out, the unions, carriers and the government began taking steps in case Congress could not beat the deadline.

The Post Office Department announced an embargo on all but first class and air mail should the walkout occur.

It said second, third and fourth class mail would not be delivered more than 150 miles from the post office of origin. Air mail would continue on schedule and first class mail would be moved by alternative transportation.

The railroads announced an embargo on accepting freight effective at 12:01 a. m. local time Thursday. A spokesman said most lines will stop handling freight before the strike deadline and will cancel passenger trains which would not reach their destination before the walkout is scheduled to begin.

Controlled to Death

With the exception of the railroad in its earliest years, few facets of transportation have ever been permitted to enjoy the latitude of a free market economy in the United States. Commercial transports, which have always been among the most heavily regulated businesses, are looked upon by Washington with the paternalistic eye of an elder who is certain his offspring couldn't possibly fend for itself, and would be dangerous if it did.

Nowhere is this more true than in the air transport industry. The Civil Aeronautics Board sprang from the philosophy that government control was needed over so vital a public accommodation, if for no other reason than to insure public safety.

From this meek beginning as a licensing and inspection service, the CAB has gradually expanded its realm of control into every corner of the industry, including the business office. In two recent cases it has proved it holds the power of life and death for any airline.

First, it answered the appeals of two financially distressed lines, Eastern and American, that the way to a healthier, more serviceable operation for these two companies which deal to a large extent with short hop destinations was merger, with a flat no. No explanation was given, no alternative suggestions were made. Just no.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry is starting to recover from the strike that never was. Orders are a bit higher than in previous weeks when customers were living off stocks built up while unions and management were negotiating a new labor pact. So production has turned up, too, for the first real gain since May.

And confidence is growing that this summer's slump will prove to have been exceptionally mild.

Part of the credit goes to the general gain in industrial activity. But part also goes to the manner in which the labor parleys were conducted this year.

The threat of a strike was less pressing this time than in previous years. Therefore, customers built up stocks at a less urgent pace. Labor contract years traditionally put the steel industry through a fever and chills cycle. First, the customers over-order as a hedge against a possible strike and the mills work feverishly.

Then, if there's a strike, much of the economy is thrown out of joint. If there's a settlement, steel users live off their out-size inventories, and the mills are chilled by few orders and little output.

This happened in 1962. The pattern was different in 1963.

The pattern—now being tried or considered in other industries—was to keep a negotiating committee working more or less around the calendar on points of differences as they arose.

The aim was not only to make a strike less likely, but also to bring the final critical negotiations to a head without working under the gun of a strike deadline threat.

But while reports of progress were frequent, many steel users weren't taking any chances. They

After this decision to maintain competition between two lines which found their overlapping territories unsound economically, the CAB decided the lucrative New York to Florida route had too much competition, and it knocked one of the carriers—Northeast—into a tailspin.

Never mind that Northeast couldn't survive in the territory remaining to it, or that only two major carriers now will be serving one of the world's most traveled circuits. The CAB simply ruled that too much competition existed, and that was that.

But Northeast will not be permitted to die as a result of the CAB ruling, after all. The airline will be granted a reprieve—on government subsidy. Thus, competition within the industry is a sometimes thing, depending on the mood of one group of government regulators.

Nor does CAB authority end with mere allocation of territories or rejection of management efficiency decisions. It also must pass on all rates, and even has the authority to set minimum and maximum rates in some cases.

Most of the unsatisfactory conditions proponents of public control over airlines, predicted in the early days of the industry have come to pass. But it wasn't free enterprise which caused them. That system has yet to be tried.

Designer James Galanos showed dresses with midriff-exposing "windows" in his fall collection in New York. It's an autumnal move.

Galanos favors low-cut fronts and exposed backs. Combine that with the "window" midriff and there won't be a peep of protest.

Designer Galanos also showed a Russian sable "jump suit" for the woman who has everything. If she has everything, what she needs is penicillin.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

I moved to California because of my sinus condition. Now I realize that I felt better in Wisconsin. Does weather affect sinus conditions?

Mrs. E. D., Calif.

Dear Mrs. D.: Apparently, you found out the hard way that one should not uproot a home and family in order to find the climate mecca for an infection of the sinuses or any other medical condition.

Obviously, climate is not the only cause or cure of sinus infections, asthma, bronchitis or arthritis. If it were, then some areas of the country would be totally free of such diseases. They are not! Undoubtedly, a consistently warm, temperate climate can be more soothing for a variety of chronic illnesses.

It is much wiser to test a climate by first living there for a reasonable period of time, however, before disrupting the family structure by an impulsive move. If the new climate the community and the job opportunities all fulfill their promise of health and security, the move can then be made without disappointment.

I have a four-month old baby. Should I, my relatives, or friends wear a mask when we have colds and are near the baby?

Mrs. Y. N., Mich.

Dear Mrs. N.: The belief at the present time is that there is no real need to wear a mask if you don't "cough" at the infant. Baby-talking to infants covers them with droplets of saliva and sputum, which can infect them.

When relatives and friends have colds, it is wise and considerate for them to stay away from the infant. Show them a picture instead.

What causes spots before my eyes? My eye specialist says that my vision is good and that have nothing to worry about.

Mrs. C. R., Mass.

Dear Mrs. R.: Worry seems to be a greater problem than your eye condition. The fact that you were reassured by your eye specialist should have been comforting.

There are many causes for such spots. Apparently, at the time of the examination, an explanation for your spots was given to you. Unfortunately, you, like many other patients, are so anxious and fearful before, during, and after a medical examination, that you often forget the reassuring answers to your questions. On your next visit, listen carefully to your doctor's answers, and you will find relief from your anxiety.

My son, age 2½, develops a croupy cough in the middle of the night. When I pick him up the cough seems better. Can this be a psychological need on his part?

Mrs. B. L. T., Ohio

Dear Mrs. T.: A psychological cause for a medical condition must, of course, be considered, but only after every physical possibility has been thoroughly investigated. The so-called psychosomatic reason was never meant to be a catchall for unexplained illnesses.

Actually, a group of physicians have recently substantiated your own experience. They found that when a croupy baby is held upright, the distress seems to diminish. It should be emphasized that all croupy children should be subjected to the expert opinion and care of a physician.

Two Types of Courage

Two members of the United Force Party of British Guiana were in New York and Washington last week, hoping to interest Americans in saving their homeland from a Castroite takeover by the party of the demagogic Marxist Cheddi Jagan. In carrying their case, which is nothing less than the case for human freedom in the western hemisphere to the United States, they exhibited two kinds of courage.

The long-term courage—or maybe the word for it is optimism—was that of Peter d'Aguiar, the Portuguese descended head of the United Force Party, which, incidentally, is a multi-racial coalition of whites, Negroes and mixed bloods. D'Aguiar was here to recruit for his party library a list of books explaining and dramatizing the development of North American democratic capitalist society. Not content with a namby-pamby 1962-63 list of one hundred books drawn up by the American Booksellers Association for "export" by the USIA to explain the "American way," D'Aguiar sought the counsel of Frank Wetzel of the Lincoln Educational Foundation. Mr. Wetzel's organization specializes in recommending good books about the development of American industry along voluntary lines—and d'Aguiar's assumption that there is a future for free enterprise in British Guiana after the British have pulled out would seem to be a supreme act of faith.

Anne Jardim, the single United Force Party Senatorial representative in British Guiana's parliament, showed a different type of courage, that of the battler against short-term odds who expects to lose within six months unless a miracle happens. Senator Jardim is a personable young woman of fourth-generation Portuguese extraction who was educated at the London School of Economics. She makes her living as a personnel director for a local business in British Guiana, but her heart is obviously in her self-accepted crusade to save her nation for democracy. Her sense of urgency seemed to get her nowhere last week in Washington. The British, who want to quit British Guiana, insist that the future of their colony is the business of the United States. But President Kennedy, declining to take the unwanted stepchild off the hands of the colonial office in London before the scheduled British pull-out, gave Senator Jardim no feeling of encouragement that our State Department is actively interested in preventing Cheddi Jagan from turning British Guiana into the first Castroite state on the South American mainland.

In talking of her dilemma in New York after the unsatisfactory business of visiting in Washington, Senator Jardim was a picture of agonized frustration. She had photographs of banking transactions which she offered as proof that Cheddi Jagan—whose dominant political party, consisting mostly of East Indian Hindu and Moslem immigrants, represents 42 per cent of the British Guiana vote—is getting huge funds through go-betweens from Fidel Castro. She had other photostats showing direct payments from Soviet Russia to Cheddi Jagan's party. Though Jagan has not admitted to the existence of the funds, banking employees who might have given the photostats to Senator Jardim have been fired.

It is Senator Jardim's conviction that under a proportional representation scheme Jagan could be thrown out of office by the combined vote of the United Force Party (17 per cent in the last election) and the People's National Congress, which is predominantly African or Negro (42 per cent of the vote.) But the British would have to intervene to end Jagan's control of the electoral process. Jagan's wife, Janet, who comes from Chicago, has been made Minister of Home Affairs, which means that she will have the local police at her beck and call once the British governor—general signs a certain piece of paper, as he very likely will before the British depart within the next few months. And with control of the police in his wife's hands, Jagan will obviously never permit another election.

Meanwhile 200 of Jagan's bully boys, none of them seeming Ph.D. calibre, have gone to Havana as "students," and fifty more have been enrolled at Lu-mumba University in Moscow and at "schools" in other Iron Curtain countries. As some of the "students" trickle home, the number of bombings of United Force Party meetings increases.

One of these days a pretty young woman named Senator Anne Jardim may become a victim of a be sentimental to worry about bomb or a hand grenade. It may her fate as an individual. But British Guiana commands the southern approach to the Panama Canal, just as Cuba commands the northern approach. Are we going to let it go by default to the Castroite, Cheddi Jagan?

Controlled to Death

With the exception of the railroad in its earliest years, few facets of transportation have ever been permitted to enjoy the latitude of a free market economy in the United States. Commercial transports, which have always been among the most heavily regulated businesses, are looked upon by Washington with the paternalistic eye of an elder who is certain his offspring couldn't possibly fend for itself, and would be dangerous if it did.

Nowhere is this more true than in the air transport industry. The Civil Aeronautics Board sprang from the philosophy that government control was needed over so vital a public accommodation, for no other reason than to insure public safety.

From this meek beginning as a licensing and inspection service, the CAB has gradually expanded its realm of control into every corner of the industry, including the business office. In two recent cases it has proved it holds the power of life and death for any airline.

First, it answered the appeals of two financially distressed lines, Eastern and American, that the way to a healthier, more serviceable operation for these two companies which deal to a large extent with short hop destinations) was merger, with a flat no. No explanation was given, no alternative suggestions were made. Just no.

After this decision to maintain competition between two lines which found their overlapping territories unsound economically, the CAB decided the lucrative New York to Florida route had too much competition, and it knocked one of the carriers—Northeast—into a tailspin.

Never mind that Northeast couldn't survive in the territory remaining to it, or that only two major carriers now will be serving one of the world's most traveled circuits. The CAB simply ruled that too much competition existed, and that was that.

But Northeast will not be permitted to die as a result of the CAB ruling, after all. The airline will be granted a reprieve—on government subsidy. Thus, competition within the industry is a sometimes thing, depending on the mood of one group of government regulators.

Nor does CAB authority end with mere allocation of territories or rejection of management efficiency decisions. It also must pass on all rates, and even has the authority to set minimum and maximum rates in some cases.

Most of the unsatisfactory conditions proponents of public control over airlines, predicted in the early days of the industry have come to pass. But it wasn't free enterprise which caused them. That system has yet to be tried.

Miss Minnie M. Goff, daughter of Mrs. Grace Goff, 544 E. Franklin St., and Mr. Paul L. Salzman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Salzman, Zanesville, were united in marriage 2:30 p. m. Aug. 11 in the Temple Israel, Columbus.

The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Stephen Arnold.

Escorted by her brother-in-law, Mr. Willis Flowers, the bride wore a floor length gown of nylon organza. The bodice was adorned with mother of pearl, sequins and seed pearls. Inserts of pleated lace enhanced the neckline and the full skirt which was worn over an old fashioned hoop. A crown of sequins and pearls held her veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid and satin streamers.

Miss Phyllis Collins, Columbus, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Virginia Puckett, Circleville, and Miss Bonnie Lorentz, Columbus. They wore pale ice blue nylon taffeta sheath dresses with matching overskirts and headpieces. The honor attendant carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations and the bridesmaids bouquets were pink. All wore pearl pendant necklaces, gifts from the bride.

Mr. Ron Salzman served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Mr. Fred Baker and Mr. Ron Breeding.

Mrs. Goff chose for her daughter's wedding a royal blue two-piece crepe dress with black accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink jersey dress with a rose lace jacket and matching accessories. Both wore white carnation corsages.

A reception was held in the social hall following the ceremony. A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered the bride's table. Hostesses were Mrs. Fred Baker, Mrs. William Puckett and Mrs. Willis Flowers. Mrs. Ron Breeding presided at the guest register.

For a wedding trip through Virginia the new Mrs. Salzman wore a blue three-piece suit with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple reside in Columbus.

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

Be Tactful with Inlaw

DEAR ABBY: I am a member of that long-suffering group which I call the GWMSOC—"Girls Who Married Somebody's Only Child." I have learned to endure Mamma's references to "My Baby," (now gray-haired and 44.) I let her cook the way she wants to when she visits us. I even laugh it off when she forgets and calls me by my husband's ex-wife's first name. But she still insists on asking personal questions about our finances such as, "How much are you making now? Did you get a raise? Is your car paid for yet? What else do you owe?" She doesn't help us financially, (in fact we help her) so must we answer her questions?

DAUGHTER-IN-LAW
DEAR D-I-L: Certainly not. Tell her in a nice way that there is no reason why she should have to worry about your financial obligations in addition to her own.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have enjoyed a wonderful friendship with a married couple for over 30 years. They are living on a limited budget, so when I had a big family party to celebrate our anniversary, I did not invite them because I didn't want them to spend the money for a gift. Ever since that time they have been very cool and formal to me. I would give anything to have their friendship again as it was before. Was I wrong to exclude from a party to which a gift should be taken? How can I let them know I am heartbroken over this?

AN OLD FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: You should have invited them and have let THEM decide whether or not they could afford a gift. Go to them and tell them you are sorry.

DEAR ABBY: The 14-year-old who wrote of her disgust at seeing sex books and magazines everywhere brought a good reply from you. (To turn her gaze to higher and better things, and to seek good books, wholesome friends and spiritual learning.) There is a lot of good around. What we seek usually determines what we experience. As parents, we should work to clean up our local stores of this immoral rubbish. How? By shopping elsewhere! We may have to walk a little further, but it is worth it. The merchant who takes a stand against the sale of such trash deserves our support. Find out who he is, and reward him with your patronage.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

STILL FRIENDS: New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's sharp assault on the "radical right" was not aimed at Sen. Barry Goldwater, says the Empire State's Republican National Committeeman.

"There was nothing personal in the statements that the governor made," George L. Hinman said Tuesday. "He continues to regard Sen. Goldwater as a personal friend and a great American."

The Arizona Republican complained recently he thought Rockefeller was his friend until the GOP governor's biting attack at elements of the radical right which he said were trying to take over the Republican party and might be coming close to making Goldwater their captive.

WRITING BILL: The House Civil Rights subcommittee starts today on the home stretch of putting together an omnibus civil rights bill.

The group completed its preliminary work on the legislation Tuesday and Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., called the subcommittee together to start giving tentative approval of the measure.

Celler said he expected the subcommittee to complete its consideration of the bill by next week.

FOREIGN AID: A new blast has been fired in the battle over foreign aid.

Last week President Kennedy

criticized as irresponsible the House's chopping $585 million from the authorization measure setting a ceiling on foreign aid spending.

Tuesday Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee drafting the bill to actually finance the program, accused the administration of "hollering wolf" once too often. He hinted the program may be cut further.

Wife Preservers

Sandwiches, except those made with hard-boiled eggs, will keep in the freezer for two to three weeks. In addition to enabling you to make a large batch at once, it keeps them fresher when out, for they thaw in lunch box in about three hours.

Although you may need to let egg whites to be used in a cake stand at room temperature, don't whip them until just before using.

DEB SHOP CHATTER

Ran across a candid comment the other day which we would like to pass along. "No one is ever too old to learn, but many people keep putting it off!"

A look at our date book tells us thousands upon thousands will be unable to put it off any longer. School starts for little, big, young, and old in the next few days. One look at the DEB SHOP windows will tell you we have garments that will pass any test and put you in the upper-upper per cent of the class when it comes to smartness.

Permanently pleated dark cottons and wool skirts that move with effortless ease, keep you whirling from classroom to lab through busy days, neat and crisp as never before. They take sitting, packing, dry cleaning, even rain in their fabulous fashion stride. Gay plaids, that will pick up the color of any blouse or sweater, solid color slims and A-line skirts to wear with your bulky sweaters. A heck stude collection from Petti that is out of this world. See our skirt collection... they range in price from $5.98 up.

So, you do have a supply of pull-over and ordinary cardigan sweaters. Now you will want the new look: the Mohair with the hand-knit look; the Italian sweater that is hand-knit; the new Garland sweaters in fashion colors. One... or maybe two or three! We invite you to see the most beautiful collection of sweaters ever presented by the DEB SHOP!

We are calling all students and teachers who would like an advance education in fashion. Come to the DEB SHOP in the center of Circleville!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have enjoyed a wonderful friendship with a married couple for over 30 years. They are living on a limited budget, so when I had a big family party to celebrate our anniversary, I did not invite them because I didn't want them to spend the money for a gift. Ever since that time they have been very cool and formal to me. I would give anything to have their friendship again as it was before. Was I wrong to exclude from a party to which a gift should be taken? How can I let them know I am heartbroken over this?

AN OLD FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: You should have invited them and have let THEM decide whether or not they could afford a gift. Go to them and tell them you are sorry.

DEAR ABBY: The 14-year-old who wrote of her disgust at seeing sex books and magazines everywhere brought a good reply from you. (To turn her gaze to higher and better things, and to seek good books, wholesome friends and spiritual learning.) There is a lot of good around. What we seek usually determines what we experience. As parents, we should work to clean up our local stores of this immoral rubbish. How? By shopping elsewhere! We may have to walk a little further, but it is worth it. The merchant who takes a stand against the sale of such trash deserves our support. Find out who he is, and reward him with your patronage.

MRS. L.F.H.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

STILL FRIENDS: New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's sharp assault on the "radical right" was not aimed at Sen. Barry Goldwater, says the Empire State's Republican National Committee.

"There was nothing personal in the statements that the governor made," George L. Hinman said Tuesday. "He continues to regard Sen. Goldwater as a personal friend and a great American."

The Arizona Republican complained recently he thought Rockefeller was his friend until the GOP governor's biting attack at elements of the radical right which he said were trying to take over the Republican party and might be coming close to making Goldwater their captive.

WRITING BILL: The House Civil Rights subcommittee starts today on the home stretch of putting together an omnibus civil rights bill.

The group completed its preliminary work on the legislation Tuesday and Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., called the subcommittee together to start giving tentative approval of the measure.

Celler said he expected the subcommittee to complete its consideration of the bill by next week.

FOREIGN AID: A new blast has been fired in the battle over foreign aid.

Last week President Kennedy

criticized as irresponsible the House's chopping $585 million from the authorization measure setting a ceiling on foreign aid spending.

Tuesday Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee drafting the bill to actually finance the program, accused the administration of "hollering wolf" once too often. He hinted the program may be cut further.

Wife Preservers

Sandwiches, except those made with hard-boiled eggs, will keep in the freezer for two to three weeks. In addition to enabling you to make a large batch at once, it keeps them fresher when out, for they thaw in lunch box in about three hours.

Although you may need to let egg whites to be used in a cake stand at room temperature, don't whip them until just before using.

DEB SHOP CHATTER

Ran across a candid comment the other day which we would like to pass along. "No one is ever too old to learn, but many people keep putting it off."

A look at our date book tells us thousands upon thousands will be unable to put it off any longer. School starts for little big, young, and old in the next few days. One look at the DEB SHOP windows will tell you we have garments that will pass any test and put you in the upper-upper per cent of the class when it comes to smartness.

Permanently pleated dark cottons and wool skirts that move with effortless ease, keep you whirling from classroom to lab through busy days, neat and crisp as never before. They take sitting, packing, dry cleaning, even rain in their fabulous fashion stride. Gay plaids, that will pick up the color of any blouse or sweater, solid color slims and A-line skirts to wear with your bulky sweaters. A heck suede collection from Petti that is out of this world. See our skirt collection... they range in price from $5.98 up.

So, you do have a supply of pull-over and ordinary cardigan sweaters. Now you will want the new look: the Mehair with the hand-knit look; the Italian sweater that is hand-knit; the new Garland sweaters in fashion colors. One... or maybe two or three! We invite you to see the most beautiful collection of sweaters ever presented by the DEB SHOP!

We are calling all students and teachers who would like an advance education in fashion. Come to the DEB SHOP in the center of Circleville!

Racial Integration Develops In Advertising Field, Too

NEW YORK (AP)—Racial integration of advertisements is moving ahead slowly but steadily. More and more Negro models are appearing alongside white models.

Recently Macy's, the big New York department store chain pictured five hand-holding youngsters in an ad for children's apparel. One was a Negro and another an Oriental.

While there is strong pressure from the Negro community for greater employment of Negro models, a real impetus comes from a desire by advertisers to reach the Negro market. This market comprises almost 11 percent of the U.S. population, or 20 million persons, with $19 billion in annual purchasing power.

Some companies have paid special attention to the Negro market for many years. Sometimes this was a part of a program aimed at many ethnic groups and neighborhoods.

Until recently efforts to reach the Negro market were mainly confined to the Negro press. Now general media are being used.

The trend toward use of Negro models is quite new and the advertising industry is having its problems.

"Many advertisers and agencies don't know how to do it," an industry spokesman said. "A problem is attracting too much attention to the models. After all, you're selling peanut butter, not integration."

"There is a definite increase in the use of Negro models in general advertising," said Richard Scheidecker, senior vice president of the American Association of Advertising Agencies. "But you have to use them where appropriate and where they will sell products."

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO — Temperatures will average around three degrees below normal. Normal high 81-85, normal low 58-62. Slow warming at first, cooler around weekend. About one-half inch of rain from occasional periods of scattered showers from tonight to about the weekend.

New York Mayor Robert Wagner's committee on job advancement has made a strong push for greater employment of Negroes in newspaper, magazine, television and radio advertising.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller, wife of New York's governor, held the spotlight today in Women's Day observances at the 1963 state exposition in Syracuse, N.Y.

Her duties included presenting community service awards at a luncheon sponsored by the women's division of the exposition.

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Singer Eartha Kitt said, there is "nothing vicious or unpleasant" in her divorce suit.

The 35-year-old Negro seeks a divorce from William McDonald, a white real estate agent, in a suit filed at Santa Monica, Calif. She charged extreme cruelty but gave no details.

The couple, married in 1960, have a 21-month-old daughter. Their marriage was the first for both.

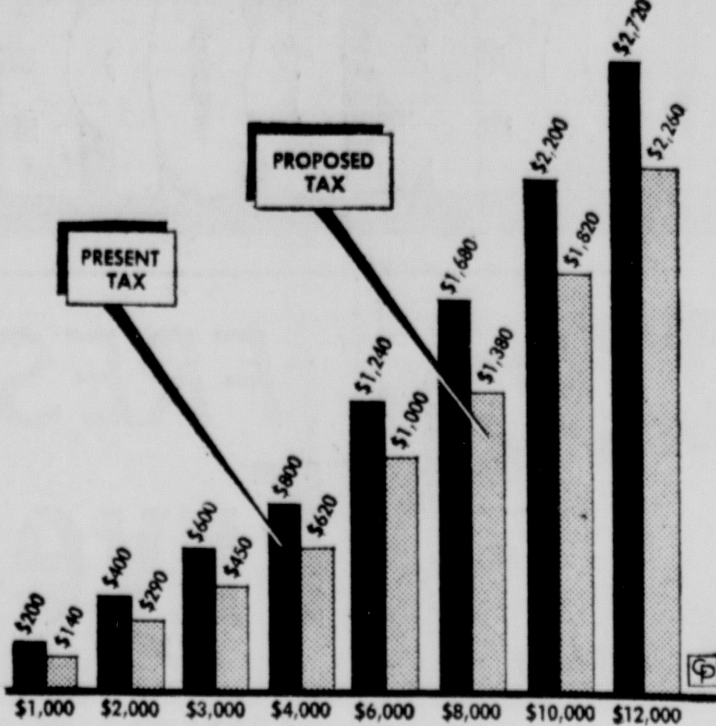

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Lana Wood, 17, sister of actress Natalie Wood, and Jack D. Wrather III, 19, were made single again in an annulment decree.

Wrather's father, Jack D. Wrather Jr., Texas oil millionaire, television and movie producer and husband of actress Bonita Granville, filed the annulment suit in January. He charged the couple's elopement to Mexico Dec. 16 was without parental consent. Wrather then was 18 and Miss Wood 16.

The couple separated Jan. 11 after 26 days together.

Man's Body Recovered

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Searchers have found the body of Allen Richards, 38, of Spring field, who drowned Saturday night in Rocky Fork Lake.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S new income tax bill presents some substantial drops. It is a revision of the bill presented to the House Ways and Means Committee last January, and reportedly is meeting with a better reception. These figures are for tax for married couples.

Juvenile Center Supervisor Better

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A cottage supervisor at the state's Juvenile Diagnostic Center, beaten by an 17-year-old inmate last weekend, is now in fair condition in Mt. Carmel Hospital.

According to James W. Grant, the center's director, Winston Warren of Cleveland hit James Bunnell, 22, of Columbus repeatedly with a heavy wooden brush from a floor polishing machine Sunday. Bunnell suffered head wounds.

Authorities at the center were told by other boys that Warren, who has a long record of juvenile offenses, attacked Bunnell from behind while the supervisor was watching television in the cottage.

Teays Valley Board Hires Two Teachers

Two new teachers have been employed for Scioto Elementary School by the Teays Valley Board of Education.

Mrs. Maisie Griner of Circleville will teach the 6th grade and Mrs. Jane Scheibeck of Reynoldsburg will teach the additional first grade. Mrs. James Finch was employed as bus driver in the Scioto district.

The Board is making an all-out effort to secure additional bleachers to handle an expected heavy number of fans for the coming football season. It was proved last year that the seating capacity was not adequate.

The board has requested every student in Teays Valley High School and all teachers and employees in the district to present a health certificate to the office by Oct. 1. A certificate secured prior to Aug. 15 will not be accepted.

In other business the board encouraged schools in the district to continue the use of bible reading and brief religious services as part of the school program.

Church Council Seeks Unity With Rome

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The symbol of the World Council of Churches is a cross-masted ship. Today, after 15 years on the swelling seas of Christian unity, its officers cited signs of another traveller on the voyage—Roman Catholicism.

A "great change is taking place," said the council's chief administrator, the Rev. Dr. W.A. Visser 'tHooft of Geneva, Switzerland.

"We have every reason to consider how in the new situation we may arrive at greater collaboration with the Roman Catholic Church in specific matters of common concern."

However, exactly what shifts in the churchly compass lie ahead, he said, remain undetermined.

His report came as the council's central committee, representing 200 Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox churches around the globe, opened an eight-day meeting Monday night with solemn pageantry and worship.

It was the first such meeting in this country in five years and marked the council's 15th anniversary.

STROLLING—Movie star Elizabeth Taylor and costumed actor Richard Burton go for a stroll on the set in Shepperton, England, where Burton is playing a cleric in the film, "Becket."

CIRCLEVILLE SQUARES—Scheduled to entertain Circleville High School fans at the annual Band and Football preview 8 p.m. Friday are the Circleville Squares. The "Squares" is a group of band parents who will perform for the spectators. The members also conduct a Hootenanny. Hallucinations Plague Miners

I hollered for Louis but there was no answer. After a while we started crawling over the debris. All our tools—the picks, the bars, the shovels and our lunch pails—were lost under the pile except for a mason hammer and a hatchet. The hammer broke soon afterward. All we had was a hatchet to cut our way over the junk.

We started crawling around in the dark looking for a way out. We were lost. But we kept crawling around like that for almost six days looking for a way out.

To keep warm, I'd sit with my legs spread and Davey would sit between my legs with his back to me and I'd breathe on his back and neck. All the time we're rocking back and forth, also to keep warm. Then Davey would switch and do the same for me. We'd do this for 5 or 10 minutes at a time. Then we'd stop but only for five minutes, say, because then we'd be cold again. Most times it felt like about 30 degrees above zero.

To keep warm, we'd sleep face to face with our arms around each other. We'd sleep maybe a half hour and then the cold would wake us and we'd start rocking again to get some circulation.

I'd sleep. I'd wake up. And I'd see all kinds of lights and the actual figures of people. They now tell me these were hallucinations but the crazy thing is that Davey would see these things the same time I did.

The lights and the figures always were in front of us but the more we crawled toward them the further away they got. For example, I saw this man, or the dark shape of a man with a light on his helmet. I yelled, "Show me some light over here! Over here!" Davey saw him too, but the shape of the man got smaller and smaller as we crawled toward him and then he was gone altogether.

The fifth day was the worst. I think that was the closest we came to death. That's when it started raining and we could hear it coming down the drainage pipes and we thought we'd be drowned. Thank God it rained only about 20 minutes.

But in that time I started running around wild. That's when I saw a door, just like a regular house door.

"Davey," I yelled, "let's go there."

I crawled as fast as I could toward it but suddenly I found myself bumping into just another piece of timber. That's when I got the bruise under my eye.

I was so frightened, I just went wild. I crawled like mad away from Dave and fell into some kind of hole. For a while—maybe 20 or 30 minutes—we lost contact. Then I found myself yelling loud as I could and the echo came bouncing back at me: "Davey, I'm going home! I'm going home if you don't want to come."

And Davey said, "Now, wait, now wait, Hank. We'll go together."

He was trying to steady me down. And as I got a little calmer I said, "Davey, how come they're not trying to get us out? How come they're not trying to get us out, Davey?"

And Davey said, "I don't know, Hank. I don't know."

For the first two days, we didn't touch the lousy sulphur water. But then we couldn't hold out. At first it tasted bitter but it got better or seemed better.

Hungry? That's the screwy part of it. Although I had only a glass of milk and two cups of coffee before I went into the mine Aug. 13, for some reason I didn't think much about it for the first five days. Maybe I was too concerned about getting out and just concentrating on that.

But suddenly early in the sixth day, suddenly I got so hungry I ate some bark from an old timber. It tasted terrible. Other times we just sucked the water out of the bark.

In the first few days I could tell, looking at my fluorescent watch, what day it was. But down there in the dark I got all mixed up about morning and night and finally the days themselves.

On about 3:15 of probably the sixth day—don't ask me if it was a.m. or p.m.—I heard Louis holler out. This was the first and only time we heard him. He yelled, "Davey and Hank, where are you? This is Louis. I got a light. I'll drop it five feet in front of you."

It sounded like it was coming from above. Now, this was real. I'll admit other things were imagined. But this was real. I actually heard Louis. But we couldn't find him or his light. And we never heard him again.

(Editor's note: At this writing, no one has, but drilling continues.)

What kept us going down there? I can only guess. It must have been our will power, our strong wish to get out. We prayed two or three times an hour. "Dear Lord, help us get out, help us get out," I said aloud over and over.

By about the sixth day, I figure now, we were just about where we started when we began looking for a way out. We were now in a chamber about six feet long and six feet wide and almost six feet high on the high side. We kept shoring up the ceiling with timber and as we did the ceiling kept getting lower until on the last day we had only 18 inches between our heads and the roof of the tunnel.

Then suddenly on the sixth day came the miracle. We hadn't heard that first drill coming down. First thing we knew a microphone was dropped down a hole near us. We heard voices yelling our names from above.

We crawled as fast as we could over the debris to the mike hanging from this first six-inch hole. We kept yelling, "Here we come, here we come," as we crawled over to that hole.

Upon the surface they asked us what we needed and soon we got clothes and hamburgers and soup and coffee. We weren't cheering yet. We were far from certain of getting out then because so far only a six-inch hole had reached us.

Work lights were lowered on a cord. Later they sent us flashlights.

That first hole was just for food and communications. The next day they started drilling a 12-inch hole. We could hear it above. But this drill hit a sulphur ball—that's as hard as a diamond—so they quit trying in this post.

The next day we could hear them drilling again and they got deep enough but they missed us on direction.

They moved the drill a few feet and this time, thank God, they reached us with the first 12-inch hole, the first escape hole. This was 10 days and 6½ hours after the cave-in that trapped us.

And now it was Monday, Aug. 26. It was 6:01 p.m., they told us and the big reamer that was widening the hole to 18 inches was only six inches over us. Twenty minutes later that big gorgeous reamer broke through! I yelled up, "Send a line down. I'm coming up."

Finally, the coveralls and harnesses came down and we put them on. I greased Davey's shoulders and arms and hips and he did the same for me.

And now it was around 2 a.m. and I was being hauled up slowly. They stopped me two or three times and it seemed forever. Then they started again and I was spinning. Finally, there it was—the surface, the air, the people.

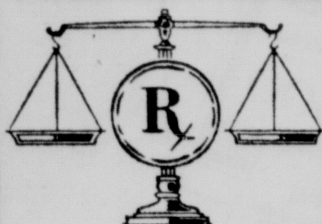

As the air hit me, I felt dizzy and fell into that basket-type stretcher. I was thinking, "I'm out now, I'm out now," and I cried for the first time.

While I was down there they asked me if I'd go back to work in the mines. I said I would. But I'm not. I guess I'm afraid. I'll work anywhere except in a mine.

Until now, I never went to church more than a couple of times in my life.

Now I'll go regular. I want to keep thanking God.

Teays Valley Board Hires Two Teachers

Two new teachers have been employed for Scioto Elementary School by the Teays Valley Board of Education.

Mrs. Maisie Griner of Circleville will teach the 6th grade and Mrs. Jane Scheibeck of Reynoldsburg will teach the additional first grade. Mrs. James Finch was employed as bus driver in the Scioto district.

The Board is making an all-out effort to secure additional bleachers to handle an expected heavy number of fans for the coming football season. It was proved last year that the seating capacity was not adequate.

The board has requested every student in Teays Valley High School and all teachers and employees in the district to present a health certificate to the office by Oct. 1. A certificate secured prior to Aug. 15 will not be accepted.

In other business the board encouraged schools in the district to continue the use of bible reading and brief religious services as part of the school program.

Church Council Seeks Unity With Rome

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The symbol of the World Council of Churches is a cross-masted ship. Today, after 15 years on the swelling seas of Christian unity, its officers cited signs of another traveller on the voyage—Roman Catholicism.

A "great change is taking place," said the council's chief administrator, the Rev. Dr. W.A. Visser 'Hooft of Geneva, Switzerland.

"We have every reason to consider how in the new situation we may arrive at greater collaboration with the Roman Catholic Church in specific matters of common concern."

However, exactly what shifts in the churchly compass lie ahead, he said, remain undetermined.

His report came as the council's central committee, representing 200 Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox churches around the globe, opened an eight-day meeting Monday night with solemn pageantry and worship.

It was the first such meeting in this country in five years and marked the council's 15th anniversary.

STROLLING—Movie star Elizabeth Taylor and costumed actor Richard Burton go for a stroll on the set in Shepperton, England, where Burton is playing a cleric in the film, "Becket."

U.S To Fire Cannon To Jiggle Moon

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—U.S. scientists are developing a miniature cannon to be fired off on the moon.

The idea is to jiggle the moon with artificial moonquakes in case the moon doesn't naturally have shudders like the earth does. Shock waves from natural or man-made quakes can supply a lot of vital information about the moon.

The miniature mortar cannon would be landed via spacecraft.

Already tested in the Mohave Desert, it would fire a projectile for a mile across the moon's surface. A wire attached to the mortar shell would string out a series of small explosive charges, set to go off automatically later at a time signal. The wire would also measure how far each charge had landed from seismometers — earthquake measuring instruments — set up on the moon.

The plans were described today to the International Union of Geodesy and Geophysics by Dr. Robert L. Kovach of the California Institute of Technology's seismological laboratory.

Death To Take No Labor Day Holiday; So, Speed, Drink, Drive On and Die

By FRANCIS STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Go ahead, step on the gas. Turn the old buggy loose and see what she'll really do.

Put a little extra zip into your trip. It's good for kicks, and might even get you there a few minutes ahead of time.

The worst that can happen to you is you'll get yourself killed. So what?

Everybody has to die some time anyway. Why wait? Why not go ahead and do it now, and save time?

You couldn't pick a better occasion than during the Labor Day weekend. Lots of other people will be doing it then also—430 to 520, the National Safety Council estimates.

You just might help run the figures up to a record. And you'd even get your name in the newspapers, on a list of the dead.

Now it may be that you would prefer to kill yourself on the highway by some means other than burning up the pavement.

Ah, there are some dandy methods. These will be given you, free of charge, just a bit later.

But maybe you personally are not yet quite ready to cash in, to make your holiday trip a one-way excursion to the undertaker's. In that case, you can use highway hijinks to achieve some spectacular alternate results.

You can manage to cost the life of your wife, your children or other loved ones and possibly without getting a scratch yourself. Then, too, there's the other fellow and his loved ones. Too bad, eh?

Even without death, there's a lot that can be done. You may be able to cause awe, some injuries for yourself or others. Injuries which will mean agonizing months or years in hospitals from the torture of shattered bodies, repeated operations and perhaps lifelong paralysis or from smashed bones, ripped flesh, crippling wounds. Horrible injuries or fire often follows car wrecks.

The possibilities are almost endless. But, nothing like variety, huh?

The Safety Council estimates that 17,000 to 21,000 persons—men, women and children in good health just as you are now—will suffer disabling injuries over the Labor Day weekend.

That may not seem like very many in a country of 180 million people—unless you are one of them. However, why not try a new and different experience?

Now for those real nifty driving tricks to get you killed or maimed, aside from the heavy foot on the gas pedal:

1. Pay no attention to red lights or stop signs. Always try to barrel on through a changing light. Boy, this will give you some thrills if you live long enough in the process.

2. Be a highway cutup. Zoom in and out between other cars, cutting back and forth as much as possible. This works just great whether there is one lane or six. There is special zest to it when there is just barely enough room to squeeze in between other cars every time you make a move. Maybe they can squeeze you in at the morgue, too.

3. Never pay the slightest attention to other cars on the highway. Do whatever you please and don't let anyone know what your intentions are. After all, as a taxpayer you own the highway. Be helpful if you own a burial plot, also.

4. On highways with only one lane each way, do your passing going up hills so you can't see what may be coming to meet you. This roadside roulette beats the Russian kind all hollow because you have a chance of knocking off several people with only one shot.

5. If you don't care so much about driving yourself, let John

Barleycorn do it for you. He's the best driver of all—or thinks he is. A little booze often can carry you a long way. All the way to eternity.

6. Don't worry about bad brakes and old tires. They may be bad for you, but then, worrying about them is bad for you, too. If you just let them go, maybe you won't have to worry about anything anytime.

7. Practice screwball turns in front of the other fellow whenever you can. This is easy for any screwball at the wheel.

8. Try driving all day long and then all night as well. It should help cure your insomnia temporarily. Maybe ever permanently. So, there you are. And, maybe, after Labor Day, there you aren't. Go ahead, step on the gas.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 28, the 240th day of 1963. There are 125 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1864, the first railway postoffice began regular service on the Chicago and North Western Railway between Chicago and Clinton, Iowa.

On this date: In 1798, John DuFour established the first vineyard in America near Lexington, Ky.

In 1850, Richard Wagner's music-drama "Lohengrin" was produced at Weimar under the direction of pianist-composer, Franz Liszt.

In 1893, a cyclone on the coast of Georgia and South Carolina killed 1,000 persons.

In 1922, the first Walker Cup international golf match was held at Southampton, N.Y.

In 1941, Russia announced that its gigantic Dnieper River Dam and its hydroelectric power plant had been destroyed to prevent its capture and operation by German troops during World War II.

Ten years ago... The U.N. General Assembly adopted all U.S.-sponsored plans for the impending political conference on Korea.

Five years ago... Archbishop Makarios called for substantial intervention by the United Nations to halt bloodshed in Cyprus.

One year ago... At least 163 persons were killed in a flash flood in Sunghon, Korea.

U.S. To Fire Cannon To Jiggle Moon

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—U.S. scientists are developing a miniature cannon to be fired off on the moon.

The idea is to jiggle the moon with artificial moonquakes in case the moon doesn't naturally have shudders like the earth does. Shock waves from natural or man-made quakes can supply a lot of vital information about the moon.

The miniature mortar cannon would be landed via spacecraft.

Already tested in the Mohave Desert, it would fire a projectile for a mile across the moon's surface. A wire attached to the mortar shell would string out a series of small explosive charges, set to go off automatically later at a time signal. The wire would also measure how far each charge had landed from seismometers — earthquake measuring instruments — set up on the moon.

The plans were described today to the International Union of Geodesy and Geophysics by Dr. Robert L. Kovach of the California Institute of Technology's seismological laboratory.

Death To Take No Labor Day Holiday; So, Speed, Drink, Drive On and Die

By FRANCIS STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Go ahead, step on the gas. Turn the old buggy loose and see what she'll really do.

Put a little extra zip into your trip. It's good for kicks, and might even get you there a few minutes ahead of time.

The worst that can happen to you is you'll get yourself killed. So what?

Everybody has to die some time anyway. Why wait? Why not go ahead and do it now, and save time?

You couldn't pick a better occasion than during the Labor Day weekend. Lots of other people will be doing it then also—430 to 520, the National Safety Council estimates.

You just might help run the figures up to a record. And you'd even get your name in the newspapers, on a list of the dead.

Now it may be that you would prefer to kill yourself on the highway by some means other than burning up the pavement.

Ah, there are some dandy methods. These will be given you, free of charge, just a bit later.

But maybe you personally are not yet quite ready to cash in, to make your holiday trip a one-way excursion to the undertaker's. In that case, you can use highway hijinks to achieve some spectacular alternate results.

You can manage to cost the life of your wife, your children or other loved ones and possibly without getting a scratch yourself. Then, too, there's the other fellow and his loved ones. Too bad, eh?

Even without death, there's a lot that can be done. You may be able to cause awe-some injuries for yourself or others. Injuries which will mean agonizing months or years in hospitals from the torture of shattered bodies, repeated operations and perhaps lifelong paralysis or from smashed bones, ripped flesh, crippling wounds. Horrible injuries or fire often follows car wrecks.

The possibilities are almost endless. But, nothing like variety, huh?

The Safety Council estimates that 17,000 to 21,000 persons—men, women and children in good health just as you are now—will suffer disabling injuries over the Labor Day weekend.

That may not seem like very many in a country of 180 million people—unless you are one of them. However, why not try a new and different experience? Now for those real nifty driving tricks to get you killed or maimed, aside from the heavy foot on the gas pedal:

1. Pay no attention to red lights or stop signs. Always try to barrel on through a changing light. Boy, this will give you some thrills if you live long enough in the process.

2. Be a highway cutup. Zoom in and out between other cars, cutting back and forth as much as possible. This works just great whether there is one lane or six. There is special zest to it when there is just barely enough room to squeeze in between other cars every time you make a move. Maybe they can squeeze you in at the morgue, too.

3. Never pay the slightest attention to other cars on the highway. Do whatever you please and don't let anyone know what your intentions are. After all, as a taxpayer you own the highway. Be helpful if you own a burial plot, also.

4. On highways with only one lane each way, do your passing going up hills so you can't see what may be coming to meet you. This roadside roulette beats the Russian kind all hollow because you have a chance of knocking off several people with only one shot.

5. If you don't care so much about driving yourself, let John

Barleycorn do it for you. He's the best driver of all—or thinks he is. A little booze often can carry you a long way. All the way to eternity.

6. Don't worry about bad brakes and old tires. They may be bad for you, but then, worrying about them is bad for you, too. If you just let them go, maybe you won't have to worry about anything anytime.

7. Practice screwball turns in front of the other fellow whenever you can. This is easy for any screwball at the wheel.

8. Try driving all day long and then all night as well. It should help cure your insomnia temporarily. Maybe ever permanently.

So, there you are. And, maybe, after Labor Day, there you aren't. Go ahead, step on the gas.

Fishing Limit Discussed
OTTAWA (AP)—Canadian Foreign Secretary Paul Martin and U.S. Ambassador William W. Butterworth have opened talks on Canada's proposed extension of its three-mile fishing limit to 12 miles.

Blake's Local Pride

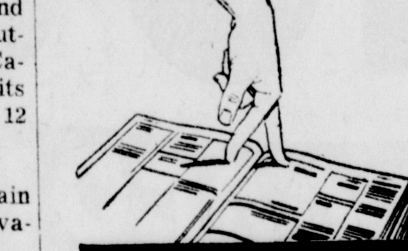

PARIS, Ky. (AP) — There's no tobacco industry in Greenfield, yet there's plenty of advertising on the island for the Paris, Ky., burley market.

When Jim Blake of the Coast Guard was home on leave, he picked up a handful of bumper stickers reading "Sell your tobacco in Paris, Ky."

Now they're decorating dog sleds, tractors and a few small ships in Greenfield.

4 Youthful Escapees Get Extra Terms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Four young men who sought to escape from the federal reformatory at Chillicothe received prison sentences Tuesday in U.S. District Court.

Judge Mel G. Underwood sentenced Don Larry Armstrong, 23, of Dearborn, Mich., and Donald Russell Inman, 20, of London, Ky., to two-year terms, concurrent with terms presently being served, for stealing cars after their escape July 27.

The judge sentenced Armstrong to four years, concurrent, on the escape charge, and Inman to 30 months. Earlier, Donald Nash, 25, of Cleveland, and Eugene T. Swatling, 26, of Clinton, Ky., received four and five-year sentences, respectively for a July 29 escape, Asst. U.S. Atty. Bradley Hummel said.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today's giant civil rights march—provided there is no violence to change the picture—doesn't figure to impress Congress much although it will leave imprints on whites and Negroes.

One of the purposes of the demonstration, besides protesting racial injustices, was to try to pressure Congress into passing President Kennedy's civil rights bill.

But, orderly or not, it will not change Southern Democrats' opposition. Others in House and Senate have already made up their minds on how they will vote, either out of conviction or what they think is politically shrewd.

That leaves the fence-sitters to impress. They, too will do what they think is right or expedient. A completely orderly march might affect some of them favorably. That could make a difference in a tight vote in Congress.

If white prejudice with all its discrimination didn't exist, North and South there would be no need at all for this march of Negroes demanding equal treatment almost 100 years after the Civil War.

But the march itself, and the demands of the speakers, won't dent the prejudices built up over lifetimes and generations. Some of the prejudiced will resent the Negro even more for asserting himself.

What the march will certainly do, if there is no disorder to confuse the problem, is demonstrate the Negro is fed up waiting for the same treatment white people get and has learned how to demand it through collective effort.

He couldn't do any demanding until nine years ago when the Supreme Court declared the principle of segregation itself unconstitutional. The law was against him. All he could do was chip away through law suits.

Even so, the prejudiced, with the law now on the side of the Negro, have refused to end the various discriminations until compelled to. The Negro has had to ram them with sit-ins, street demonstrations, picketing.

It was in doing so that Negroes came to the realization they were helpless individually but together could hasten what they wanted. This march in Washington today is simply a kind of dramatic climax to that realization. To even the most prejudiced today's speech-

"Quit rents" are due the monarch of England for property granted in the past to national heroes and royal favorites. These rents include six horses, two white greyhounds, a salmon spear, a snowball, a large eel pie and a bed of straw.

Ohio Labor Day Toll Expected To Be 24

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Highway Safety made a forecast for the Labor Day weekend today.

It estimated that 24 people would die and that 936 would be injured on Ohio highways in the time period from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Monday.

A year ago, 25 persons were killed in Ohio Labor Day weekend auto accidents, and 991 were injured. The deadliest Labor Day weekend for the state in recent years was in 1959, when 31 were killed on the always dangerous three-day weekend.

But while there is solidarity on what is wanted among Negroes, there isn't on how or where or when to achieve it.

The Negro leadership, although it is unified for today's program is divided and no doubt will resume its divisions after today. This to some extent will divide Negroes generally on the strategy to use and may cause conflict among them.

A solid front, under a central leadership, might be more effective. But divided and unpredictable actions have a certain psychological value for Negroes, since they will keep their white opponents guessing.

tacle is evidence, if any were needed, that the Negro is determined to get justice.

This has unpleasant implications for whites who don't want to yield: more turmoil and disorder perhaps on an even greater scale if nonviolent efforts collapse in violence, as they have been doing increasingly.

The Kennedy bill was intended to eliminate a number of potential trouble areas. It isn't clear yet whether Congress will approve. But after today's display of solidarity, at least in what is wanted, Negroes can be expected to push even harder. It will be an encouragement to them.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?—Well, plenty, for this fellow is Elliot Fishman of the Virgin Islands and he boated that 500-pound blue marlin. The fish is 11 feet 8 inches long and was hooked north of Caneel Bay on Atlantic side of island of St. John.

New Development Center Is Slated

CLEVELAND (AP) — Goodrich-Gulf Chemicals, Inc., said today construction will start soon on the first stage of a new development center in Independence that will cost in excess of $2.5 million.

Lucien O. Crockett, company president, said the project will include a pilot plant for the development of styrene-butadiene and other types of synthetic rubber, plus related laboratories, utilities and offices.

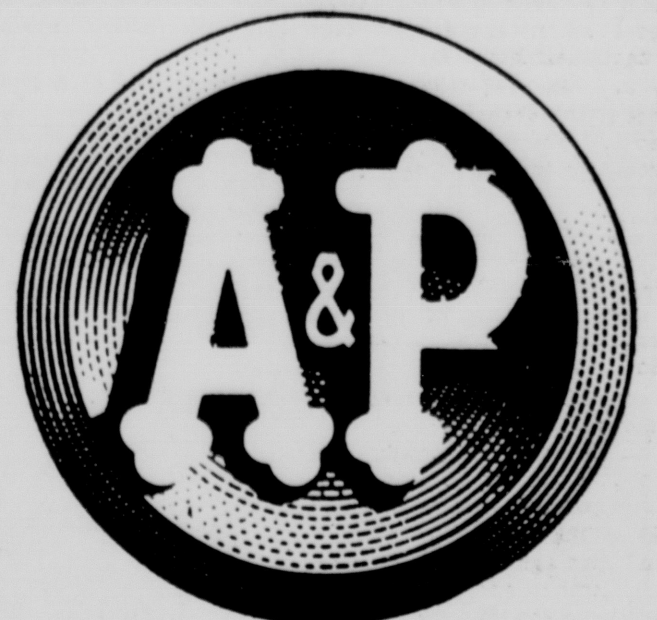

Girdler Corp. of Louisville, Ky., is the contractor.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Chorus boys and girls tripped across the battleship, waving pennants while the stars danced a duet in the foreground.

Shades of "Anchors Aweigh" and "Hit the Deck!"

This was not a revival of the light-hearted, simple-minded musicals of Hollywood's past but a spoof there of. It was a sequence for "What a Way to Go," which appears to be satirizing all Hollywood once held dear.

The stars are Shirley MacLaine and Gene Kelly. They have a dream sequence in which they interpret an Astaire-Rogers dance a MacDonald-Eddy operetta and finally, the battleship number which harks back to Kelly's past.

"I'm having a ball," said Kelly. "This kind of thing is easy to satirize."

Shirley finished the battleship number and collapsed in her dressing room.

"This is rough work," she said. "I haven't danced in 12 years, and you've got to keep it up. Oh, I danced in 'Can Can,' but I was faking it. It gets tougher to fake all the time."

Mind you, she's not complaining. Why should she, with the most impressive list of costars within memory: Kelly, Paul Newman, Robert Mitchum, Dean Martin and Dick Van Dyke?

The gimmick is this: Shirley yearns for the simple things of life. Trouble is, she's always marrying poor slobs who turn into millionaires. Bizarre accidents carry each one off to another life and she starts anew, only to end up with millions again.

"For the first time I get to wear pretty clothes in a picture," said Shirley.

The bill for the 70 gowns comes to $375,000, says the studio, Twentieth Century Fox, which is proceeding on "What a Way to Go" just as if there had been no "Cleopatra." Budget: $5 million. Maybe those good old times are coming back.

He said his altitude predictor "indicated I would go 11,000 feet higher . . . but it was definitely off." He hit 3,614 mph. His record is 4,104.

TWO MILLION PINT-SIZE MIRACLES FROM RED CROSS

Blood, and more blood. For a child, a loved one. Yours . . . someone's. Blood to save lives, to speed recovery of the seriously ill.

The Red Cross collects an average of over four pints of blood a minute, the year around—nearly 2½ million pints a year, over 40 per cent of all the blood collected in America! Most of it goes to hospitals for transfusion; the rest is converted into life-saving and disease-fighting derivatives, also given at no cost for the product to hospitals, physicians and health agencies.

But new uses for blood and blood products, for a fast-growing population, are constantly being found. SO THERE ARE MORE NEEDS FOR BLOOD TODAY THAN EVER BEFORE!

Shirley MacLaine Reports Hoofing for Film Hard Work

Haitian Roulette Is Very Deadly

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) —Haitian roulette is more complicated but no less deadly than its Russian counterpart. Suppose you drive by the heavily guarded national palace at night on four very bad tires.

"If you have a blowout," explained a Haitian businessman, "it's the end. The explosion will draw a barrage of fire from every trigger-happy guard on duty."

Even if apocryphal, the account of this new local sport serves to dramatize two facts of life in the Haiti of dictator Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier:

1. Very real fear of a blowout in front of the palace is only one of many varieties of terror flourishing here.

2. The main force of this terror is the palace, the arsenal-fortress which Papa Doc, in a bizarre pact with his sense of historic mission, has pledged to turn into a "Himalaya of bodies, rivers of blood" in any attempt to depose him.

Two small invasions by anti-Duvalier armed bands this month resulted in a wave of reprisals here and in the interior demonstrating that Papa Doc is not making idle threats.

Scores are believed to have been killed or imprisoned—where death sometimes is the only parole—on suspicion of disloyalty. Operating in the invasion area, Duvalier's special security corps, the Tonton Macoutes, are said to have hurled hand grenades into homes of those thought to have even smiled at rebels.

There were reports of executions of officers and civilians in the ill-famed prison of Ft. Dimanche. These new victims are only a fraction of those thought to have paid with their lives or limbs for real or imagined lack of faith in Duvalier since he came to power in 1957.

Political reprisal business became so brisk in his time that Duvalier converted the basement section of the National Palace and the one-time military barracks at Ft. Dimanche into special prisons equipped with torture cells.

But the northern frontier invasions by his enemies have exposed signs that Papa Doc is now a captive of the fear he exploited to stay in power.

Duvalier distrusts the army which he purposely weakened while arming his own civilian militia and Tonton Macoutes.

Aware of the long tradition of fragile loyalties among Haiti's partisans of power and of the spreading unrest, the dictator has virtually buried himself in the palace, his last sanctuary.

But many Haitians will tell you nothing will save Papa Doc because the mahogany presidential chair has a "range"—pronounced run-jay—or malediction and anyone who sits in it goes mad and dies.

Haiti's last tie with France is its official language, French. The masses speak a patois — French, Spanish, English, African and Caribbean Indian dialects.

Haitian Roulette Is Very Deadly

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) —Haitian roulette is more complicated but no less deadly than its Russian counterpart. Suppose you drive by the heavily guarded national palace at night on four very bad tires.

"If you have a blowout," explained a Haitian businessman, "it's the end. The explosion will draw a barrage of fire from every trigger-happy guard on duty."

Even if apocryphal, the account of this new local sport serves to dramatize two facts of life in the Haiti of dictator Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier:

1. Very real fear of a blowout in front of the palace is only one of many varieties of terror flourishing here.

2. The main force of this terror is the palace, the arsenal-fortress which Papa Doc, in a bizarre pact with his sense of historic mission, has pledged to turn into a "Himalaya of bodies, rivers of blood" in any attempt to depose him.

Two small invasions by anti-Duvalier armed bands this month resulted in a wave of reprisals here and in the interior demonstrating that Papa Doc is not making idle threats.

Scores are believed to have been killed or imprisoned—where death sometimes is the only parole—on suspicion of disloyalty. Operating in the invasion area, Duvalier's special security corps, the Tonton Macoutes, are said to have hurled hand grenades into homes of those thought to have even smiled at rebels.

There were reports of executions of officers and civilians in the ill-famed prison of Ft. Dimanche. These new victims are only a fraction of those thought to have paid with their lives or limbs for real or imagined lack of faith in Duvalier since he came to power in 1957.

Political reprisal business became so brisk in his time that Duvalier converted the basement section of the National Palace and the one-time military barracks at Ft. Dimanche into special prisons equipped with torture cells.

But the northern frontier invasions by his enemies have exposed signs that Papa Doc is now a captive of the fear he exploited to stay in power.

Duvalier distrusts the army which he purposely weakened while arming his own civilian militia and Tonton Macoutes.

Aware of the long tradition of fragile loyalties among Haiti's partisans of power and of the spreading unrest, the dictator has virtually buried himself in the palace, his last sanctuary.

But many Haitians will tell you nothing will save Papa Doc because the mahogany presidential chair has a "range"—pronounced run-jay—or malediction and anyone who sits in it goes mad and dies.

Haiti's last tie with France is its official language, French. The masses speak a patois — French, Spanish, English, African and Caribbean Indian dialects.

Vice President Is Preparing For Campaign War in 1964

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is happily preparing to return to the political wars next year, riding the hunch that President Kennedy is going to win re-election by a near landslide.

Although the President and Johnson reportedly never have discussed the matter, there is every indication they will be teammates again in a campaign they will carry vigorously into every corner of the nation.

Johnson, who campaigned in 43 states in 1960 when Kennedy won the presidency by a whisker, obviously is going to have to bear in 1964 the brunt of Southern Democratic resentment against Kennedy's endorsement of racial demonstrations, and his pressure on Congress to act on civil rights legislation.

Bite Put On

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An accident reported by the 121st Tactical Fighter Group sounds more like the cavalry than a jet fighter outfit.

James C. Davis, an airman second class in the Air National Guard outfit, was the victim. While on active duty for training at Lockbourne Air Force Base, he was bitten by a horse at the base riding stables.

nedy's endorsement of racial demonstrations, and his pressure on Congress to act on civil rights legislation.

But if the lanky, dark-haired Texan is disturbed by the prospect of going into the South to tell possibly unsympathetic audiences there that the time has come for all citizens to enjoy their constitutional rights regardless of color, he doesn't show it.

If it was a wrench for Johnson to give up that power to become vice president, the compensation lay in the fact that he was one of two nationally-elected officials of the government and might, in time, become the head man.

For if all goes well in next year's campaign, Johnson will be pointing for 1968. Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla., the House majority leader, already is on record with the prediction that Johnson "will succeed Jack Kennedy as President of the United States."

Johnson and Kennedy, who had some nasty things to say about each other when both were running for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, have surprised all concerned by getting along remarkably well.

This is attributed, in part, to Johnson's decision when he became vice president that he would not hold news conferences where reporters might get him into a position at cross purposes with the President, and that he would not interfere with operations of Democratic leaders in Congress.

He has kept these pledges and has stayed out of trouble in two fields that were mined with it. Although he had a heart attack several years ago, Johnson keeps a pace that rivals that of the President, who at 46 is nine years his junior.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Glen Hayes was upset when a burglar stole a shotgun, jewelry and electric shaver from his home in Christian County.

Then he got an anonymous phone call telling him the stolen items were under a road sign near the Hayes home.

Ex-Packing Firm Aide Pleads Guilty

TROY, Ohio (AP)—Paul Braun, 36, of Troy, former vice president of the Baun Packing Co. here, entered guilty pleas today before Common Pleas Judge Huber Berry to three counts of grand larceny involving theft of cattle from the company.

Judge Berry deferred sentencing because Braun is co-defendant in some other cases involving charges of larceny by trick. These cases are scheduled for trial Sept. 10-12.

All the charges involved an investigation by authorities into the company affairs extending back over a period of seven years. Several other persons have been charged in connection with the investigation.

BRUCE HORN

TOM COPLAND

Bruce Horn and Tom Copland are two returning stalwarts of last year's undefeated CHS squad. Bruce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lovett, 146 Town St. He is 5-feet-6, weighs 145 pounds and plays cornerback and halfback. He is a member of the annual staff and vice president of the Stooze Club. Tom is 5-feet-9 and weighs 175 pounds. He plays linebacker and guard. Both Horn and Copland made honorable mention on the All-SCOL team last year.

Westfall Opens Grid Schedule September 9

Westfall School District football coach Asa Elsea announced the scheduling of three games for the coming season.

The team will open the grid season Sept. 9 at Logan Elm. Game time is 5:45. On Sept. 30 Elsea will take his unit to Amanda-Clearcreek for a 4 p. m. tilt and on Oct. 7 the squad will meet the Circleville High School reserves at 5:45 on the Tiger grid-iron.

The team plays a practice schedule this year.

The main goal Elsea has in sight is to prepare grid candidates for the 1964 season when football becomes a full fledged varsity sport at Westfall.

CURRENTLY boys from Williamsport, Darby, Jackson and Monroe are practicing at Jackson high school where home games will be scheduled.

A former Bowling Green and Circleville High School star, Elsea is currently negotiating for more practice games. So far all tilts have been slated with reserve units, although he has hopes of working at least one varsity team into the schedule.

The Westfall School is scheduled to be completed in time for the 1964-65 school year.

Football is the only sport in which all the schools will combine during the current year.

Rookie Pair, Old Man Give Jolt to Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP)—A pair of fuzzi-cheeked rookies and the old man of the bullpen—40-year-old Hoyt Wilhelm—were the Chicago White Sox' stars in a 6-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night.

The rookies are Pete Ward, a hotshot third baseman, and Tom McCraw, a fancy fielding first baseman who is not much of a hitter. Both had three hits—two singles and a home run—and drove in a pair of runs apiece.

The only offensive punch for the Indians came from rookie Max Alvis, who walloped his 18th homer in the sixth inning off starter Joel Horlen. Ward also has 18 homers. McCraw has four.

Wilhelm preserved Horlen's seventh victory in 12 decisions by hurling three hitless innings against the Indians and striking out four. Cleveland batters couldn't connect against his fluttering knuckler.

The victim of the White Sox' hitting was Jim (Mudcat) Grant (10-12), who lost to Chicago for the 16th time in 19 decisions since he came into the league in 1958, and Bob Allen, who hurled the final three innings and was tagged with six hits and four runs.

Ward and McCraw made almost half of Chicago's 13 hits.

25 Lettermen Return To Miami Grid Wars

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Miami University's new football coach, Bo Schembechler, will greet a crew of 61 varsity candidates here Friday.

Schembechler, who is succeeding Johnny Pont, now at Yale, will inherit a squad that includes 25 lettermen from last year's team which had an 8-1-1 record.

11 Ohioans Qualify for U.S. Amateur

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Some of the top play-for-fun golfers in Ohio will represent the Buckeye State in the National Amateur Golf Tournament in Des Moines next month.

Ohio's 11 berths in the national classic were filled Tuesday in qualifiers played over the par 71 Madison Country Club course in North Madison near Painesville and the par 70 Camargo Club layout in Cincinnati.

Alex Antonio Jr. of Hubbard, 18-year-old state high school champion, shared medalist honors with Dick Guardiola of Shaker Heights with two-over-par 144s at the Madison qualifier. Roger McManus, 39-year-old veteran of greater Cincinnati golfing battles, took medalist honors at the Camargo qualifier with a two-over-par 144.

Other qualifiers at Madison were Art Hudnutt Jr., 1962 Western Amateur champion, and Walter Stahl Jr. of Cleveland, 1961 Ohio Amateur champion. Both shot 145s.

Camargo's other qualifiers were Roger H. Holstein of Columbus with a 144; Tom Weiskopf, this year's Western Amateur champion, 145; Bruce Rotte of the University of Cincinnati, 145; John Owens of Lexington, Ky., 147; Jim Ferrell Jr. of Louisville, Ky., 148, and Edgar Bradley of Cincinnati, who tied with Ellicott Phillips of New Albany, Ind., at 149 but won a playoff on the first extra hole with a birdie three.

14 Set To Go In Hambletonian

$115,588 Purse Awaits Winners

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—A field of 10 colts and 4 fillies—some of them just recovering from weakening virus infections—appeared set for the $115,588 Hambletonian Stake today.

The blue ribbon fixture for 3-year-old trotters will carry the sixth richest purse since its 1926 beginning, with $56,619 going to the winner and prize money through five places.

A record crowd of about 40,000 was expected in the Du Quoin State Fairground, where pari-mutuel betting is prohibited by state law.

The overwhelming 2-5 favorite on the unofficial line was Speedy Scot, the juvenile trotting champion of 1962 owned by Castleton Farm, Lexington, Ky., and trained and driven by Canadian-born Ralph Baldwin, 47.

Speedy Scot, winner of five out of six starts this season and $182,091 in two years, is given a chance by harness racing experts to break the Hambletonian mile record of 1:58 2-5 by Harlan Dean in 1961.

Cheer Honey, top trotting filly as a 2-year-old, has been wearing an improvised oxygen mask twice daily since getting a virus infection last weekend.

B. F. Coalton, second choice with Cheer Honey at 4-1, also has been breathing medicated oxygen for a throat infection that he had a month ago.

Other Hambletonian starters who had virus trouble earlier in the season include Diggs Dell, Bluff Hanover, Careless Hanover and Filter.

Another trotter who may be under par is Star Act, who has been suffering from a bone chip in her left knee.

The Hambletonian is raced in mile heats an hour apart. The first will go off at 2:30 p.m., EST. The first horse to win two heats is the champion.

Willie Mays Gets His 400th Homer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Willie Mays isn't very excited about becoming the 10th major leaguer and first right-handed National League slugger to hit 400 home runs.

"My first homer was just as important," Willie said Tuesday night after No. 400 helped his San Francisco Giants to a 7-2 victory over St. Louis. "If I hadn't ever hit that one I probably wouldn't have been here for this one."

It was his 32nd of the year and came during a red-hot streak in which Mays is batting .432 this month. He has hit in 12 straight games, 27 of 28, and raised his average to .307.

Hopalong Cassidy Is Sacked as Pro

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy and Sandy Stephens, All-Americans in their college days, have received their walking papers as pros.

Cassidy, who won the Heisman Trophy in 1955 as the top college player while at Ohio State, was placed on waivers by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League as the American pros reached a mandatory cut-down date.

Stephens, All-America quarterback at Minnesota in 1961, was dropped by the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League with the Als paying him for the remainder of his three-year no-cut contract.

An Ohio State fullback has been the rushing leader in Big Ten football in four of the past five years. Bob Ferguson led the conference twice and Dave Francis and Bob White once each.

Westfall Opens Grid Schedule September 9

Westfall School District football coach Asa Elsea announced the scheduling of three games for the coming season.

The team will open the grid season Sept. 9 at Logan Elm. Game time is 5:45. On Sept. 30 Elsea will take his unit to Amanda-Clearcreek for a 4 p. m. tilt and on Oct. 7 the squad will meet the Circleville High School reserves at 5:45 on the Tiger grid-iron.

The team plays a practice schedule this year.

The main goal Elsea has in sight is to prepare grid candidates for the 1964 season when football becomes a full fledged varsity sport at Westfall.

...
CURRENTLY boys from Williamsport, Darby, Jackson and Monroe are practicing at Jackson high school where home games will be scheduled.

A former Bowling Green and Circleville High School star, Elsea is currently negotiating for more practice games. So far all tilts have been slated with reserve units, although he has hopes of working at least one varsity team into the schedule.

The Westfall School is scheduled to be completed in time for the 1964-65 school year.

Football is the only sport in which all the schools will combine during the current year.

Rookie Pair, Old Man Give Jolt to Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP)—A pair of fuzzi-cheeked rookies and the old man of the bullpen—40-year-old Hoyt Wilhelm—were the Chicago White Sox' stars in a 6-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night.

The rookies are Pete Ward, a hotshot third baseman, and Tom McCraw, a fancy fielding first baseman who is not much of a hitter. Both had three hits—two singles and a home run—and drove in a pair of runs apiece.

The only offensive punch for the Indians came from rookie Max Alvis, who walloped his 18th homer in the sixth inning off starter Joel Horlen. Ward also has 18 homers. McCraw has four.

Wilhelm preserved Horlen's seventh victory in 12 decisions by hurling three hitless innings against the Indians and striking out four. Cleveland batters couldn't connect against his fluttering knuckler.

The victim of the White Sox' hitting was Jim (Mudcat) Grant (10-12), who lost to Chicago for the 16th time in 19 decisions since he came into the league in 1958, and Bob Allen, who hurled the final three innings and was tagged with six hits and four runs.

Ward and McCraw made almost half of Chicago's 13 hits.

Booster Club Sets Stage for Coming Season

Booster Club officers and directors wasted little time last night in mapping plans for the coming Circleville High School athletic season.

Officers and directors met at Ted Lewis Park to set the wheels rolling for the fall campaign. A highlight of the evening was an address by CHS grid boss Paul Starr.

Coach Starr, starting his first year at the helm here, outlined his football program and detailed various phases of his strategy for the season. He also explained his system, including motivation of players and standards of behavior. He was accompanied by backfield coach Dick Fisher.

Booster members, anticipating a successful year, set the stage for their merchant membership drive which opened today. Assignments are made and the canvass is expected to reach a peak by Saturday.

AN ADDED membership incentive this year will be the presentation of awards to Boosters possessing lucky cards. The awards will be made during CHS football and basketball games.

The business phase of the planning session included approval of a request to purchase neckties for football players and managers. The ties will go along with special uniform blazers to be worn by the grid squad.

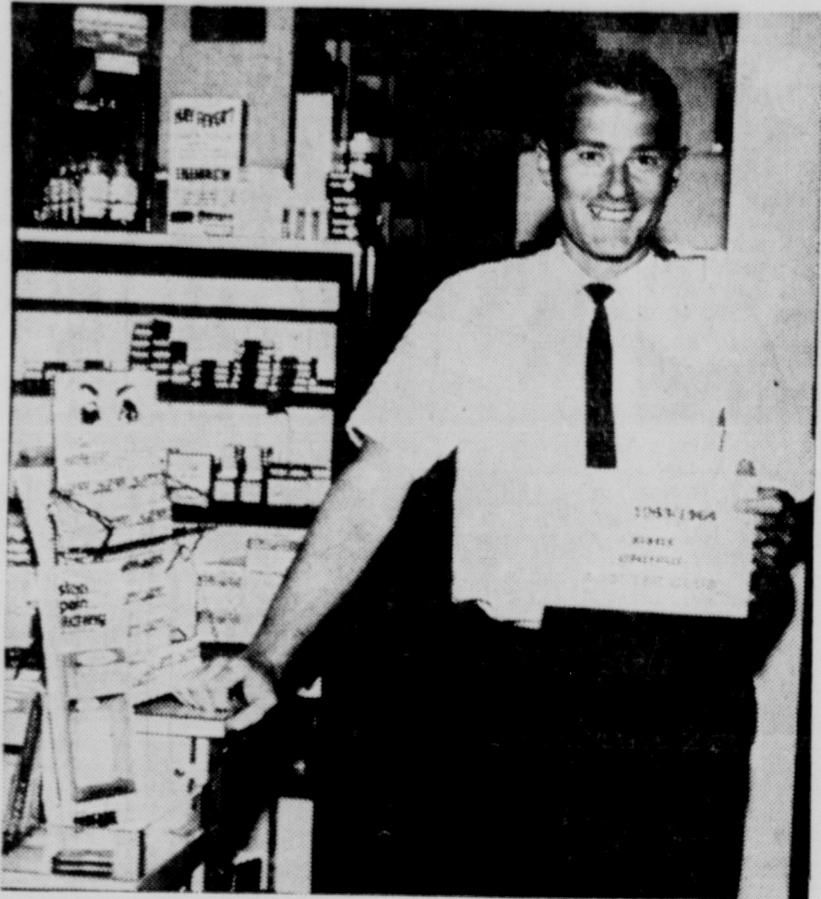

The ties will be red. Handsome black blazers will round out the school color theme.

Another measure gaining Booster approval provides for the feeding of the football team prior to each game. The meals will be served at the high school cafeteria, with the Booster Club picking up the tab.

A new Booster endeavor this year will be the operation of a concession booth at home football games. Clark Martin, project chairman, announced that plans for the booth have been completed.

Another prime project will be the Booster Fish Fry, scheduled for Oct. 4 during the Homecoming game with Washington C. H.

President Chapman expressed thanks for last night's excellent turnout and commended coach Starr for the enthusiasm he helped spread throughout the assembled group.

BOOSTER CLUB MEMBER — Robert McKelvey, manager of the Risch Drug Store, displays his new membership card, designating his firm as a backer of Circleville High School sports. McKelvey was one of the first commercial joiners for the year. The Boosters officially launched their member campaign today. A concentrated effort will be made from now through Saturday, according to club president Bob Chapman. (Photos by Dwight Radcliff)
